Call for Submissions and Participation

Digital transformation is the profound transformation of the way of doing business by incorporating digital, social, mobile and emerging technologies. It introduces new models, processes, technologies and competencies to fully leverage the changes and opportunities of the digital technologies in the different domains. It also considers the adoption of these new technologies in a strategic and prioritized way, with present and future shifts in mind. Digital transformation will lead to the encouragement of innovation and the creation of new business models.

The theme of the fourth edition of the Africa and Middle East Conference on Software Engineering (AMECSE 2018) is Software Innovation for Digital Transformation. AMECSE 2018 aims at exploring how innovation in software engineering can support digital transformation. The conference will explore the alignment of the new technological trends, business models and processes to drive new values and effectively compete in an over-changing digital economy. The conference will also shed the light on the methodologies suitable for transforming the traditional methods in the different domains into new ones by employing innovative and creative approaches and frameworks. AMECSE 2018 is organized In-Cooperation with the ACM SIG-SOFT.

We solicit high quality contributions in one or more of the following three types of submissions:

- Industrial and Research Papers typically report new and innovative results in empirical, theoretical, tool-oriented, or conceptual work. AMECSE 2018 accepted papers will be published in the ACM Conference Proceedings Series (ACM-ICPS) with ISBN 978-1-4503-6636-6.
- Tutorials are short lectures delivered by leaders in industry or academia to provide hands-on experience in new and emerging technologies and tools.
- Demos/Posters provide a channel for industry and academia to demonstrate and share their products prototypes for implementing smart knowledge cities with the community in an informal and exciting setting.
